PRESS TELEGRAMS.

London 11th — The Standard correspondent in Madrid telegraphed last night that the Spanish Government in their note to Germany expressed the hope that the German Cabinet would recognise the rights of Spain to the possession of the Caroline Islands, even though the disputed islands should be temporarily occupied by Germans.

If Germany recognise these rights, Spain will publicly apologise, by means of the official press, for the insult to the German flag.

Madrid, 14th—The note of the Minister of Foreign Affairs to Germany, bases the rights to the possession of the Caroline Islands, on the fact that these islands were discovered, explored, peopled, &c., by Spaniards.

Paris, 11th—The Matin publishes a telegram announcing insubordination amongst the soldiers in Madrid.

Madrid, 11th—The Sub-Secretary for Marine has sent in his resignation, owing to the fact that the note to Germany, with reference to the Caroline Islands, was couched in friendly terms.

The German Consuls in Carthagena and Linares, who are Spaniards, have sent in their resignation.

It is said that the Spanish battleship Castilla, the largest in the Spanish fleet, has been launched at Cadiz.

It is calculated that since the 1st of September, 136,447 fresh cases of cholera have occurred in Spain, of which number 63,708 proved fatal.

The Military Gazette announces the resignation of Prince Henry of Battenberg to his grade in the army.

Constantinople, 12th — The United States' war-ship Quinabaugh, left for Smyrna on the 4th instant. This vessel had been detained at Pera for some repairs. The Sultan refused to accept any payment in return for the repairs. The United States' Minister has called on the Sultan to return the thanks of his Government. The United States' Minister held his first interview with Said Pacha to-day on the subject of commercial relations between Turkey and the United States.

It appears from advices just received that Dr. Irigoyen did not wish the Monteagudo affair to be known in B. Ayres.

Patagones, 15th—The Pomona sailed with a full passenger list and cargo. The steamer from Chubut has arrived with a cargo of wheat.

The weather is fine. Political excitement great.

ATTACK ON DR. IRIGOYEN.

On no tuepas los idées.—The blind political villain, who fired his revolver at Dr. Irigoyen in the railway carriage at Monteagudo, has done the cause of this popular candidate more good than all the club meetings in his favor held throughout the country. The public sympathy expressed for this distinguished gentleman is only rivalled by the public indignation at the crime.

Opposing politicians, as will be seen by the telegrams at foot, destroyed the triumphal arches, tore down the flag, and created riot in the very house where Dr. Irigoyen stopped; but the pistol shot of the would-be political assassin has raised Dr. Irigoyen's cause high, and above all the gew-gawry of triumphal arches and bunting, and lifted his banner to the pinnacle of a political fame which distances all his competitors or opponents.

It may be that we wanted some such scandal to remind us all how this country stands, to teach us that what is bred in the bone comes out in the flesh, and that we live under the shadow of institutions which are mere political exotics. It may be that political corruption has gained such an ascendancy that the remington, not the ballot-box, is what is needed in this land. But we shall not lose faith in the country, nor salute the flag of barbarism raised in the interior, so long as public indignation at such crimes takes proper shape and the first Magistrate of the land has the moral pluck to send the Governor of Catamarca such an emphatic message as the following telegram which with great satisfaction we translate and give our readers :—

Buenos Ayres, September 14th, 1885.

To the Governor of the Province of Catamarca.

I have just received telegrams announcing serious disturbances in the province of Catamarca on the occasion of the arrival of Dr. Irigoyen. I further remark that the Jefe Politico has taken a prominent part in these disturbances. If this news is true, for the honor of the country and your government I sincerely hope you will proceed with the utmost energy to the investigation of the affair, severely punish the guilty, and dismiss those Government employés who took part in this disgraceful affair.

If you knew that Dr. Irigoyen's friends had decided to make a demonstration in his favor, you should have prohibited any demonstration in favor of a rival candidate for the sole purpose of preventing a collision between the two parties. Moreover, Dr Irigoyen is one of our most important political characters and is deserving of every consideration throughout the Argentine Republic.

I therefore expect that you will display the utmost zeal for the cause of justice and make as much reparation as possible for the insult levelled at this distinguished guest. The Arabs consider their guests, even should they be their enemies, sacred and deserving of the greatest attention, and in Catamarca you do not hesitate to grossly insult a most distinguished guest.

I remain, etc.,
Julio A. Roca.

With infinite felicity President Roca, in this message, alludes to the Arabs and their Customs; no sarcasm could be greater, no rebuke more deserved. Yet the Arabs of Catamarca are the mere tools of political Levantine Greeks who, with the most inexcusable stupidity, organized this row, little dreaming that it would promote the very cause which they try to stifle and annihilate. If the impending Presidential election rests on the triumph of crime, or on the victory of the assassin, then it is well to know in advance what we have to look forward to. To be forewarned is to be forearmed, and since crime never yet in the history of human affairs advanced the cause of liberty, let us all put our trust in those secret corrective elements which, spite of every influence, shape the destinies of a free people.

The hand that aimed the revolver at Dr Irigoyen's head, has done the country good service, since it has awaked us to dangers that we thought not of, and reminded us all of duties which, if we shirk, may fling the administration of affairs into the hands of men whose creed is assassination and whose banner is the revolver.

Our great faith in the country mocks the calamities which this scandal in Catamarca portends. The Argentine Republic is too great, too grand, too noble a land to bow to the 'poncho' of another Quiroga.

Three millions of freemen spring to arms at the very thought of another reign of terror, and not fifty thousand candidates can impose on the Argentine people the empire of the 'poncho' or the despotism of the revolver.

The crime against Dr. Irigoyen is the tocsin of alarm to the whole Republic. We, of course, make no charge against Dr. Dardo Rocha or Dr. Juarez Celman, both of whom, no doubt, execrate the villain who has brought a cloud over the political situation, but they should ponder well on the present critical state of affairs and, if not so emphatic or outspoken as President Roca, at least they might telegraph the Governor of Catamarca :

Non tali auxilio, nec defensoribus istis.

The following descriptive telegram closes this chapter :—

Catamarca, 14th—We arrived here at 2 p.m. Four hundred persons had assembled at San Isidro to welcome Dr. Irigoyen. Great enthusiasm prevailed, and the little town presented a gay appearance with the numerous triumphal arches that had been erected for the occasion. Flowers and flags were everywhere to be seen. The Club de Artezanos and Juventud assembled to welcome the Presidential candidate, and made a brilliant display of flags, banners, etc., bearing inscriptions and enumerating the services Dr. Irigoyen had rendered the country while he occupied a seat in the Cabinet.

The ex-Minister took up his temporary abode at the residence of Dr. Leguisamon. In the evening he made a speech from the balcony, and an enthusiastic crowd loudly applauded him.

The Jefe Politico Maldones later on made his appearance at the head of some twenty soldiers followed by a band of music. The Jefe Politico and his soldiers broke through the demonstration, shouting "Viva Juarez !— Muera Irigoyen !" The "manifestantes" replied by the cry, "Viva el futuro Presidente Dr. Irigoyen !" Maldones and his men immediately dismounted, and attacked the crowd with their swords and "rebenques". At the same time they continued their vociferous yells of "Muera Irigoyen."

Dr. Irigoyen then spoke to the Jefe Politico and advised him to retire in order to prevent further disturbances. But Maldones refused, stating that he was sorry because personally he admired Dr. Irigoyen but, of course, was an enemy to his candidature. This patriotic speech of Maldones infused great zeal amongst his followers, who renewed their attack on the helpless citizens and destroyed the banners of the clubs already mentioned.

The whole affair was a most scandalous and disgraceful one and does not speak much in favour of the authorities in Catamarca.

THE NEW BUDGET.

The report of the Budget Committee is now before Congress. The paper appears to have been drawn up with much care, and although the reductions proposed by the Committee do not meet our expectations, still they always express a willingness on the part of the legislature to do something towards, cutting down an expenditure which we all denounce as extravagant.

The following comparative table shows the extent of the economies proposed by the committee, and it may so happen that Congress, impressed with the necessity of reducing the expenditure, will still further reduce those figures :—

	$m/n	$m/n
Interior	10,330,358	8,081,740 44
R. Exteriores	392,256	428,724
Hacienda	16,164,361	16,077,899 79
J. C. I. P.	5,244,512	4,984,981 38
Guerra	7,435,402	6,587,257 44
Marina	3,513,870	2,609,280
	43,080,761	38,769,280 05

The Committee marks down the sum total of the floating debt at 27,876,287 m/n, of which amount the Government has applied to Congress to consolidate 16,381,141, leaving a floating balance to be met in the market of 11,495,146 mn. The Committee, basing its estimates on the revenue for the first 6 months of 1885, marks the total revenue of the current year at 39,300,000 mn. The budget for the year was fixed at 43,000,000, but the Nat. Executive very properly seeing the difficulties of the market, began many months ago to restrict the expenditure, and by cutting down very many items has brought the year's expenditure down at least 3 millions, which about equalizes the receipts with the expenditure. The total loss to the Government by the fall in exchange is marked at 2,200,000 mn, but then this heavy loss is always compensated by the 15 per cent additional duties put on at the declaration of curso forzoso.

The paper is too long for a literal translation. but we extract the following remarks which will be read with interest by the tax-pay.ng public :—

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS.

As may be supposed, the Committee bestowed prior attention on this point, and, following a well-established practice, adopted the revenue of the first half of this year as a basis for calculating that of next year. Not to make this report too long, the Message of the Executive and the tables of taxes received up to June 30th are given at foot. As proved by the figures, the estimates of the Executive, which the Committee have accepted, are kept within the most prudent bounds.

The receipts from Imports are estimated at less than those for the present year, which fell short, owing to the monetary disturbances that arose. Import dues (including additional) are put down for this year at $27,636,386, their actual return, judged by that of the first six months. Four per cent. only is added as a probable increase for the coming year, (the average increase being from 8 to 10) leaving the amount $26,800,000.

Far from being alarmed, the Committee is rather glad to see the revenue from Imports falling off as compared with the present Budget, as it shows a shrinkage that will reduce the country's indebtedness abroad. The decrease in imports and increase in export are two favourable movements, now going on, that tend towards equilibrium in our foreign trade, and a contrary effect to that produced when that equilibrium was destroyed; viz; enable the country to pay with its products for what it consumes, and this means, in commercial and economic parlance, an improvement in the rate of exchange and an increase in value of the paper money.

It is a common truth that, to keep gold in the country the coin must be the result of commercial exchange; bought with the nation's products. All other devices to obtain it, such as loans, are merely preparatory steps, but when it is applied to reproductive works, they in turn perform the economic phenomenon of attracting it.

Thus, the country will positively gain by losing some revenue from Imports so long as the exports continue to increase, as they have done this year up to the present.

In estimating Export dues the Committee have added $200,000 to the calculation of the Government; basing this increase on the receipts of the present year to date, and the fact that the production of the country, though a little affected, has not ceased to progress. There is no reason to fear a falling off in the pastoral industry that pays the tax in question.

The dividend that the National Bank can pay in the coming year is set down at 7 per cent, reserving the 50 per cent ordered by the inconversion decree; and this is why the Committee have reduced the estimated dividends on the Goverment shares in the Bank from $800,000 to $540,000.

The estimated receipts from the State Railways are based on the figures supplied by the managers, and on the receipts from traffic during the present year.

The tonnage, harbour, wharf, light and anchorage dues have been increased 40 per cent, as the Committee think that the new registration of ships ordered by the Executive will produce this increase. This increase of 40 per cent is not arbitrary, being based on the mean average receipts from tonnage up to the present.

To conclude this chapter, the Committee have decided not to make any change in the taxes, especially in the Customs dues. The few alterations made are in details that can be explained in the debate. The tax laws were substantially changed last year, and it would be imprudent to change them again before seeing how they work practically.

In addition to its being sound policy to avoid frequent changes in taxation as the operations of trade and industry are based on it, it would be not only imprudent but rash to change the existing bases and estimate the revenue for next year on unknown results, especially under present circumstances, when no safe opinion can be formed of the upshot of the present monetary disturbances. For this reason, the Committee (some members dissenting) have adopted the existing tax laws, which they might, perhaps, have reformed, if the times were more propitious.

RESUMEN.

The Estimates for Expenditure and Receipts are thus :

Revenue	$41,307,500
Expenditure	38,769,883
Surplus	2,526,616

From the surplus a million must be deducted for Special Laws.

The Executive has not included in the Receipts for 1886 $300,000 to receive from land bills due this year; nor the 50 per cent reserved of its dividends on National Bank shares.

As can be seen, the surplus is sufficient to attend to the consolidation of the Floating Debt, should Congress vote that Bill.

By the figures of this Report, it can be seen, without any fanciful illusions or concealment of the truth, that, although the state of the finances is not flourishing or easy, and the honourable and efficacious resort of retrenchment has been appealed to, and it is sought to pay at long dates through consolidation, it is equally certain that the financial disturbance has been greatly exaggerated; that the uncertainty has alarmed the public and that the Treasury, with prudent management, is well able to meet all its obligations.

The Budget Committee well understand that the worst thing they could do would be to conceal facts, or even modify them at the present solemn moment for the country; and they consider that the best way to overcome the crisis is to tell the whole truth about the state of the Treasury, giving all the official data, documents and figures that Congress and the public may be able to form an opinion about them. And, without too much confidence in their own judgment, the Committee are convinced that, no matter how the figures may be looked at, the National Finances will never reach a state to justify alarm or anticipations of a disaster that will precipitate the country backward.

There is, therefore, no bankruptcy nor even chance of it, as some seem to think, in face of the quotations of gold, and speculating on what was obscure and unknown, but which is now clear and known to all——the state of the National Treasury.

It is clear that if the existing difficulties were left to cure themselves, disaster would have ensued, but events disclosed the danger and pointed out the right road to the Government and public opinion, which are now both on the right track, and ought to stick to it.

PRICES AND GOLD SUPPLY.

(By M. G. Mulhall, F.S.S.)

II. THE RELATION BETWEEN GOLD SUPPLY AND PRICES.

This is such a self-evident fact, according to many persons of "light and leading," that it needs no demonstration; and yet it is a delusion. Some thirty years ago, Michel Chevalier startled mankind by asserting that the influx of gold from Australia and California was going to plunge Europe in ruin and confusion, a prediction which proved wholly ungrounded; but he had certainly more show of reason on his side than the people who are now clamouring about a gold famine. The stock of gold in the world (coined and uncoined) in 1850 was of an estimated value between 620 millions and 650 millions sterling; the production in the following ten years was 281 millions, an increase of 44 per cent.; and in the next decade, 264 millions, bringing up the stock to nearly 1,200 millions, or double what we had in 1850. If Chevalier's apprehensions had been well-founded, the prices of all commodities would have doubled; but we find that the level of prices began to fall steadily from 1864, when the mines were most productive. The following table shows the position of prices in Great Britain side by side with the stock of gold in the world :—

Year.	Stock of Gold. Millions £.	Ratio.	Price Level in Great Britain.
1850	630	100	100
1860	911	144	108
1870	1,175	187	110
1880	1,420	227	95
1884	1,504	239	87

Thus the world has two-and-a-half times the stock of gold that it had in 1850, and prices are 13 per cent. lower. It is almost a wonder that nobody has yet started a theory that the multiplication of gold causes prices to fall.

Newmarch very properly ridiculed all theories connecting prices with gold supply. In his inaugural address to the Statistical Society, in November, 1869, he said : "In the early years of the gold discoveries, I arrived at an opinion, then considered heretical, namely, that the effect of the discoveries would not be to augment general prices, and this is now recognized as an orthodox conclusion."

About the same time, Professor Jevons, alluding to the Chevalier theory, said : "Those who predicted a revolution in monetary affairs, from the great flood of gold since the new discoveries, have been thoroughly disappointed."

But long before the time of Newmarch, several other profound thinkers had discovered the fact that there is practically no connection or relation between gold supply and prices.* In the eighteenth century, Adam Smith wrote : "The continued influx from the American mines in the sixteenth century was quite inadequate to produce any progressive effects upon the general price of commodities in Europe."

In 1826, Professor Nassau Senior wrote : "It is a lamentable sign of ignorance that the fall of prices is supposed to be connected with metallic currency."

In 1830 McCulloch wrote : "It has been customary to ascribe the fall in prices since 1815 to the diminished supply of bullion from the mines, but I doubt if this circumstance has had any influence in that way."

Tooke, in his evidence before the House of Commons, said : "The quantity of precious metals may remain constant, and the trade in a country be doubled, but the prices of commodities will not vary in the least degree." Again, in his "History of Prices," he says : "It is a fallacy to suppose that the range of prices depends on the quantity of money. The stock of gold coin in the world in 1856 was one-third more than in 1848, but the range of general prices was not materially influenced."

We must, however, be prepared to hear that the alarmists of the present day reject all the foregoing authorities as out of date. They will tell us that the conditions are changed, the world is marching on much faster than before, and that unless the gold mines continue to produce 20 millions sterling per annum we shall be in danger of bi-metallism or something worse. I fear that the language of Messrs. Goschen and Giffen may lead inexperienced people to infer two fallacies—first, that the coinage of the world depends upon the product of the gold-fields; secondly, that the actual reserve of uncoined gold is comparatively small. Happily, we have conclusive evidence that the mints of the world draw less than 50 per cent. of their supply from the gold-mines, and that the existing amount of gold coin is less than half the actual stock of gold in use.

* If gold supply had anything to do with prices we should expect to see greater uniformity in the variation of the latter. For example, in 1884 the world had six times as much gold money as 100 years ago, and the total stock of gold was just three times what it was in 1790; but if we compare prices in Great Britain, we find the most extreme diversity, viz. :—

TUCUMAN AND METAN RAILWAY

We have received from Mr. White, Chief of Department of Engineers, a very portly volume descriptive of the Section of the great Northern Railway from Tucuman to Metan, which we recommend to the attention of all English railway engineers in the Plate, as it treats in detail of those great works, and affords information of the highest possible interest to those engaged in the construction of railways. To the unscientific reader, of course, the book will for the most part be unintelligible and unreadable. Everything connected with the Tunnel is given in a separate chapter, and one can form an idea of the gigantic measure of these works by the voluminous work before us of a mere section. We must indeed compliment Mr. White on the industry he has shown in compiling so complete a work, and we can well imagine the admirable organization and working of his department as we turn over the pages of this most exhaustive report. This Metan section of the Tucuman Railway runs through a most beautiful country which reminds us much of the environs of Tijuca in Brazil. The viaduct spans a valley perhaps the most picturesque in the world, and if we had a little more enterprise we should have a fine hotel ere this in that delightful valley :

The report before us is 507 pages and gives a detailed account of the works, plans, and estimates etc of the prolongation of the Northern Railway, which constitutes this section.

The total length of this section is 180 kilometres, 504 metres, and the outlay entailed in its construction amounts to the respectable sum of $6,800,759 gold, say a kilometric cost of $37,676-50 gold.

Over 222 small bridges and other works have been projected. There are also 12 viaducts. There are 15 principal bridges across the rivers Tapia, India Muerta, Vipos, Chorromoro, Cortadera, Potroyaco, Hornillos, Acequiones, Tala, Arenal, Rosario, Las Cañas, Yatasto, Metan, and Las Conchas. The most important of these bridges is 225 metres in length, and stretches across the Las Conchas, and the smallest bridge, that across the Hornillos, is 22 metres in length. At 23 kilometres from Tucuman, before crossing the valley of the Saladillo, the tunnel of the same name is situated. It is 200 metres in length and is splendidly built. At a distance of 502 metres from the northern extremity of the tunnel, the viaduct destined to cross the Saladillo valley, is situated. This viaduct is 356 metres in length and has a width of nearly 4 metres.

Seven stations are to be erected, as follows :—Tapi Viejo, Tapia, Vipos, Trancas, Mogotes, Rosario and Metan. Each of these stations will be provided with a 'galpon,' and every convenience for passengers. Metan-station will have an hotel for passengers, besides every comfort for the railway employees and every improvement in the way of 'galpones.'

The permanent way is of the Vignolles system. The rolling stock is divided as follows :—8 locomotives for goods' trains, 4 locomotives for passen ger traffic, 6 first-class passenger carriages, English system, 8 second-class carriages, 76 waggons, of 12 tons' carriage, 90 waggons of 10 tons, and 20 waggons for cattle.

The report contains many other important details which unfortunately we cannot publish owing to want of space.

We likewise observe that the estimates are given for the sections from Chilca to Salta through the Passage valley, and to Jujuy through Cobos. These estimates we reserve for future publication.

LONDON LETTER.

GENERAL NEWS.

(Concluded.)

Lord Iddesleigh has issued a memorandum for the Royal Commission on Depression of Trade, which held its first session to-day at Richmond-terrace. The memorandum is not a very masterly or hope-raising document, and is not worth sending you; besides, on this fine, breezy, autumn day, when poor fellows still at their desks can almost hear the sough of the wind through the heather on the moors, I am not going to bother you with political economy. But in reference to my late remarks on Mr. Mulhall's article on the fall of prices, and to what I have written for years past, I cannot help quoting the following verbose first paragraph, from a sententious verbose letter :—

"To the Editor of the Times.

"Sir,

"May it not be possible that what is "called depression of trade, now pain-"fully felt, is to be ascribed to our un-"limited motive power and machinery, "affording the means of speculatively "multiplying production beyond the "means of the community for the time-"being to consume."

Now, is not that heart-rending, and at the same time most amusing? The letter quoted is signed "Borthwick." meaning an ordinary English country gentleman, commonly called Lord Borthwick. The title is an old border title, lately revived, in the person of this stuttering, sputtering, know-all-about-it sort of man who has the cheek—the audacity of ignorance—to sit down, after a pleasant day's grouse-shooting, and write to the Times, as if he had made a discovery, and goes on mooning for half an hour, on a subject I must have wearied you with in answer to Goschens and Giffens, and which is the chief ingredient in the current socialist literature. To see these fellows, one after the other, dropping into the mouths of the socialists, is glorious fun. Borthwick's letter to the Times will figure next week in a column in Justice, headed "Tell tale straws," and such things are, indeed, tell-tale straws in regard to the ripening of opinions on certain social and political questions. It is still more glorious to see such things in the city organ, the Times, which, with all the vulgar servility of its middle-class patrons, would insert anything if it came, I believe, from a pump or barrel-organ, or anything in the remotest degree connected with a "handle," as it inserts constantly the rubbish of Anteron Herbert.

The serious part of this business is, that it is such men and their nominees who are appointed under Lord Iddesleigh to form a Royal Commission to enquire into the causes of "what is called the depression of trade now painfully felt" as Lord Borthwick says. We have just had a fencing on the subject between Lord Iddlesleigh and Mr. Broadhurst. The latter gentleman refused to act on the Commission on the plea that labour was not represented in its composition. Lord Iddesleigh denies that, and says he had applied to Mr. Barnett and others connected with Trade Unions and they declined to join. There is a time and a way of asking people to join which look like second thoughts and ensure refusal. Besides there are men on the commission—like Bonamy Price and others—which would convince any really earnest inquirers that the end of the Royal Commission on Trade will be that of every other Royal Commission on the "Housing of the Poor" and so forth—shams, frauds and a discredit to this country which allows itself to be stifled by private wealth and interests.

SPANISH GERMAN QUESTION.

Now that all fear of war has vanished the public may take some interest in the Islands which gave rise to the dispute. The Carolina Islands are so little known that they are not described much in any of the Encyclopedias, but in the Naval Magazine, published in this city for last month, we find the following :—

The following details of these islands we find in a report presented to the Spanish Government by the Commander of the battleship Velazgo actually stationed off the principal island Yap :

The Caroline archipelago is divided into 48 groups comprising 500 islands, covering an extent of 450 leagues. Total area of the archipelago 48,000 square leagues.

Owing to the number of dialects spoken by the inhabitants, and their different modes of writing, the names of most of the islands have remained a mystery and source of confusion to navigators. In fact, it is only of late that the existence of many of the islands has ceased to the questionable.

Navigation owes much to the efforts of the French commander Duperré, and to the studies of Capt. Lütke, commander of the corvette Lemavin. From these sources we are led to the belief that the population of the Caroline Archipelago is centred at Yap and Palaos, and amounts to 3,000 souls. The percentage per square mile is much greater than in most countries in Europe, for it must be taken into account that the islands of coraline formation are generally covered with cocoa-nut trees, bread trees etc, which might support 3,000 inhabitants per sq. mile.

With regard to the discovery of these islands, it is believed that a Portuguese navigator, Diego de Roche, first sighted them in 1525 and named them Islas Segueiras. However many maintain that Villalohes discovered them in 1543. It is certain that this navigator refers to these islands in one of his works. Miguel Lopez de Lagaspi mentions them in 1568 and subsequently, in 1595, we find that Lorenzo de Barreto alludes to these islands as uninhabited.

In 1686 a Spanish pilot, Francisco Lezcano, discovered a large island which he named Carolina in honor of Charles II. The question now arises; which of the islands was first called Carolina? No satisfactory answer has even been made to this query and, in all probability, it will ever remain questionable. At all events, the island discovered by Lezcano gave its name to the whole group.

The famous English navigator, Sir Francis Drake, discovered some islands in 1779 during one of his piratic excursions. In 1721 the Jesuits at Manilla determined to civilize and convert the inhabitants of the Carolines but apparently their efforts in this direction proved fruitless. Father Cantova left in 1733 in the hope that he would succeed in effecting what his confréres had failed to do, and according to trustworthy information gathered from shipwrecked sailors, he paid dearly for his temerity in his evangelic mission, for he was brutally murdered at Mog-Mog by the natives. "From that date," writes M de Saint Martin, a well-known authority on matters of this nature, Spain included the Carolines amongst its insular possessions, but neither Spain, nor the Carolines, nor science, nor civilization have ever derived any benefit from this acquisition, which at best was but an empty name.

In 1817 the Russian Commander Kohrbus visited the Carolines; in 1810 the French Commander Prespinet, of the Uranie; in 1824 the French Commander Duperré, of the Coquille; in 1826 M d'Urville, and finally in 1828 the Russian Commander Lutke, paid these islands a visit 'en passant.'

THE RIO NEGRO SETTLERS.

In passing the law known as the HOGAR, in 1884, Congress did a true and important act of justice. If we take into account the terrible hardships and dangers which the Rio Negro settlers suffered before the seizure of the Indian territories by the Government, we are led to the conclusion that this law was but an act of justice to these brave men, who risked their lives for the advancement of civilization in the far south. Nevertheless, the law to which we have referred suffers from one defect calculated to lead to much discontentment: the beneficial action of the law does not extend to settlers from 1877 to 1882. This, undoubtedly, is a most unjust omission, but we cannot blame Congress, which was actuated by the most praiseworthy sentiments in favor of the Rio Negro settlers, and which hastened to sanction a law conscientiously amended by the previous study of the Minister of the Interior. Very possibly, our legislators did not perceive that the then Minister was completely pre-occupied by other matters. The Legislature is bound to meet this defect in the law, and deal full justice to these brave settlers.

The Hon. Deputy for Entre Rios, Sr. Arigos, was one of the first to point out to his colleagues the injustice of this omission in a law which was calculated to benefit the Rio Negro settlers and reward their untiring efforts to drive the Indians from the fertile territories of the south.

The Patagonia, of Viedma, which we have just read, calls attention to the fact that the Rio Negro settlers, up to 1883, were continually the victims of the rapacity of the Indians, who robbed them constantly of their cattle and the fruits of their honest labour. Living at so considerable a distance from the centres of civilization, and left to their own resources, the unfortunate settlers loudly complained of the little justice dealt to them, but the echo of their complaints was lost in the desert.

To form an idea of the damages and losses of the Rio Negro settlers, we have only to cast a retrospective glance on the Indian invasions of 1877-81; and even in 1882, have we not seen the Indians encamped in the cemetery of Patagones, which is situated but a few squares from the plaza of that town? Did we consider it necessary to dwell at length on the misfortunes of the settlers, we should refer to the pillage of Los Toros, which took place during the course of the present year, to the sacking, in 1883, of the Las Aguadas settlement, etc.

These considerations should be taken into account by Congress, and the amended law, as proposed by Deputy Arigos, passed and sanctioned without delay.—From La Libertad

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday evening a meeting of the Irigoyenista Club was held, and a large number of members attended. The excitement in town caused by the attempt on Dr. Irigoyen's life continues. On Sunday he is expected in town when there will be a demonstration in his favor which will speak the public indignation at this unprecedented electoral scandal. We advert to the subject in another column.

Another grand charity ball is announced for the 26th inst, at the new public school house at the corner of Calles General Viamonte and Talcahuano. This ball comes off so fast on the heels of the Bolsa ball, that it may save the ladies the expense of new dresses. We noted yesterday the collector going round for the Bolsa Ball, not half the tickets are yet paid for that figure on his list. Possibly there may be more balls going on than the people can well afford to pay for.

Dr Diego La Fuente, we hear, will will be the new Minister of Public Works at La Plata. We hope this new Minister, before he is a year in office, will start a hundred agricultural colonies in this province, and then the public will not grumble at the expense of the new Ministerio.

Many of Dr Pellegrini's friends leave for Montevideo on 19th to meet him. We hope there will be no quarantine, but we fear it.

The friends of the late Hugh Robson of Chascomus are informed that the funeral will take place to-day at Chascomus, on the arrival from town of the train leaving Plaza Constitucion at 8.10 a.m.

Mr. Alvarez has been raised to the post of Treasurer of the Nation, vice Mr. Demaria C. Carril takes his place as under-Treasurer. Both gentlemen are the right men in the right place.

Minister Laurencena's Memoria shows Entre Rios to be going ahead in the most marvellous manner. Only a few years ago it was going to the dogs, and within measurable distance of the end of its journey. Such are River Plate changes.

"Do you not think I would make a very attractive angel?" asked a masher, with very large ears, to a young lady. "Well, no," she replied, pointing to his immense ears, "I think your wings are a little too high up."

Mr. Julius Fansel of Calle Victoria was "walked into" on Monday by a long firm "individuo" to the tune of 400 Nats worth of jewelry which we feel morally certain Julius will never see again, this side of the grave.

The emigrants by the Orione and Pampa were fumigated yesterday on Martin Garcia Island. The sensation of being fumigated, and, above all, of requiring fumigation, must be rather queer.

The usual Spring groans about cattle and sheep dying by wholesale are now rather deep. Half what one hears is 'mentira.' What about the first new wool in the market, the loan, the fall in gold, the rise in exchange, and all the good things the busy season always promises and never performs, just like Congress or the Consejo D ?

The Lord Mayor was up to his chin in paving stones yesterday. No fewer than half a million offered him at various prices.

The late Monsieur Challe, proprietor for so many years of the Ville de Lyons in Calle Victoria, died worth 200,000 Nats, a very tidy fortune for a shopkeeper or an editor, but a mere flea-bite for an estanciero or a merchant, banker, or barraquero.

Another snag-up about that wretched Rosario mole. The cry now is that there are no materials. "Still they (do not) come."

The Damas de Caridad now give soup daily to all poor comers at the Maternal Asylum in Calle Brazil. The worthy ladies will have lots of impostors about them.

A man named Blancas fainted like a stone (what way does a stone faint ?) in Calle Piedras on Monday. He was fixed up in the nearest "botica."

We see that the Pellegrini Loan cablegrams cost 20,000 Nats. And all for nothing. What hands we are in.

The weather was as soft as new milk yesterday, and had a most decided touch of smiling spring in it. We saw the nearest thing to a white waistcoat on one or two subscribers. More rain is not far off. In the South they have had too much already. The partido of Vecino is flooded.

There was general good humour in business circles yesterday at the Deputies' Committee having thrown out the obnoxious fourth Article in the Forced Currency Bill. We have our fears still, however. The majority of honourable members may go astray in the division lobby. Is there a lobby in Congress? The Nacion complains very justly of the pompous and verbose style of the Committee's report.

The expulsion of French officers from the review ground of the Guards at Berlin may be a straw to show how the wind is blowing. The other day several German military spies were caught in France. Is there going to be another burster?

There is a grand treat to-night at the Colon Theatre, the immortal 'Barber,' given by a scratch company composed of the mortal remains of the Escalante Company and several other highly respectable lyric waifs and strays with a good deal of talent but limited fame. We hope to go; but all depends on the news from the Caroline Islands.

The La Plata Club gives a grand concert to-night, to-morrow night, or the night after, we really forget which, but, if equal to the last one, it is sure to be splendid. Our May fair colleague complains that the other two fashionable Clubs have gone in for economy, and completely subsided in the entertainment line.

Our friend Rajneri is picking up dollars in the National Theatre. The place has become fashionable and is crowded with the cream of society every night. The artistes are really good.

The Republica lets the cat out of the bag about the 'raison d'etre' of the recent sudden inspection of the theatres. We are not a bit surprised.

The Corporators are summoned again for to-night to tackle the wood pavement question. We'll bet a shilling that there won't be a quorum, or half one.

The 'tambo' men want another stirring up. They give their cows the sweepings of the markets to eat, and quantities of salt to make them drink more water and increase the milk. Nice customers.

Poor Peru! Iglesias has locked up twelve Notabies of Lima for their country's good. We firmly believe it to be on the cards that Mr. Churches will be locked up himself before the present free scrimmage in his important country comes to an end.

The Rural Society invited a lot of people to a debate about Scab last night. Demosthenes himself could hardly get up much eloquence on such a subject; but a sheepfarmer can talk for a week about it.

The usual question about "dignidad nacional" and the rest of the rubbish has been raised because the Italian Exhibition at the Recoleta is only for things made by Italian workmen. This restriction is a mistake, but is really not worth squabbling about. The good done by these Exhibitions is purely imaginary.

An Italian who had been imbibing too freely got a knife into him the other night in Calle Independencia and was found dead in the street next morning. Strange to say, the wound was not mortal, but brought on a sudden flux on his weak lungs that killed him.

"There," exclaimed Snookers, pointing to a tramp who was attempting to leave the premises with a large dog attached to his trousers, "there is what I call a good example of a contested seat."

The "Convencionales" of Buenos Ayres are in an "injured innocence" mood. They met on Monday and treated the proposal to pay them for their invaluable services in the most hoity-toity manner. The Constitution won't be fully reformed this side of 1900 A. D.

The Christmas Capital Lottery will have a big prize of 100,000 Nats, or rather 80,000, as 20 per cent will be deducted for the 40 numbers before the winning one, and the 40 after it. Ah! The Madrid Lottery is the one for our Money. Big prize £100,000 Stg! Not a copper less. Tickets only £20 each.

The employés of the tribunals in Rosario have not been paid their salaries for six months. Money must be unpleasantly tight in official quarters.

"Your beau seems very bashful" said a Dayton Avenue mamma to her daughter. "Bashful!" echoed the daughter; "bashful's no name for it." "Why don't you encourage him a little more? Some men have to be taught how to do their courting. He's a good catch." "Encourage him!" said the daughter; "he cannot take the most palpable hint. Why, only last night, when I sat all alone on the sofa, and he perched up in a chair as far away as he could get, I asked him if he didn't think it strange that a man's arm and a woman's waist seemed always to be the same length, and what do you think he did?" Why, just what any sensible man would have done—tried it." "He asked me if I could find a piece of string, so we could measure and see if it was so. Ain't he horrid?"

Here's something curious that we never knew before, and we fancy most of our readers can say the same:—"The black and red, red and white, or blue and white variegated paper used by bookbinders in covering the sides of book covers costs $40 per ream of 480 sheets. It is manufactured by a certain old family in France that owns the secret of making it, and charges its own prices. Having grown rich out of the monopoly, these Frenchmen do not now make above 100 reams annually."

A fellow named Piant complained to the Rosario police the other day that his wife had eloped with a friend of his, taking with her his four children and 120 Nats. He said the only thing he cared much about getting back was the money.

The B. B. Preserved Beef Company have commenced building big premises at Barracas. We cannot answer the question of an inquisitive subscriber as to what the letters B. B. stand for. Perhaps boiled beef.

The Saint Fernando people are going to build a theatre. More fools they. It will never pay. We're all cracked about theatre-going here. There have been no fewer than fourteen companies of all kinds here this year, and Ciacchi is the only man who has made a copper. "Tant mieux." A burned cat dreads the fire, and there will be fewer amusement 'empresarios' in the field next year. Our native critics did not like Claudian in Spanish, but praise Miss Arden's beauty most enthusiastically, as is their wont when lovely woman is the theme.

One of the canals at La Plata will be opened and inaugurated early in November. Of course there will be a prodigious feed.

September 15th, 1885

Gold	40.20 o/o prem.
Cedulas F	80
Cedulas G	87½
Nat. Bank Shares	144

The bearish features of yesterday's speculation became more pronounced to-day and the premium dropped all along the line, for cash, for the 30th, and for October. The bulls appear to favor the fall and do little or nothing to hold up the market. The speculation appears to be drooping under its own weight and the current of the market points to lower quotations. Affairs ruled rather active at the ring to-day and an unusual amount of gold was sold cash, over $220,000 changing hands at 40½ to 40.20, closing rate. Over half a million dollars were sold for the end of the month at 40.60 to 40 o/o premium, the market closing at 40.10. Operations for the end of October embraced $250,000 at 39 to 38¾. Over a million dollars were sold during official hours.

Cedulas were active, but prices ruled weak. Operations in Series F embraced 139,000 for cash at 80⅜ to 80, closing rate, and 12,000 for 30th at 80. Nearly 200,000 Series G changed hands for cash at 87⅞-½, and a few thousand were sold for the end of the month at 87½ and 87¾. A few shares of the National Bank changed hands at 144.

The exchange market ruled dull and no business of any importance was reported this morning. Rates continue unaltered. Paper money is easy and there was more ease in gold to-day.

One of the most remarkable features in the market is the chilly feeling with which the protest of the "commercial body", against the Forced Currency Bill, has been received by bankers, merchants, and the "commercial body" in general. A perusal of the list of names appended to the protest convinces one of the very divided state of opinion in the matter. We had thought that the commercial body would rise to a man to sign a protest against repudiation, but we fail to see in the list of signatures more than the protest of a small fraction of commercial opinion. It seems incredible that the very merchants should throw cold water on the protest, since the absence of numerous small and prominent firms and of many Banks is a sufficiently eloquent proof of apathy or disagreement. We had expected to see the protest followed by five hundred signatures at least—a powerful mirror of the opinion of the market; but not one-tenth of the commercial body answered the summons, and either the men who framed the protest had not sufficient time to collect signatures or their laudable efforts clashed with an opposition that may be gauged by the demur of the sweeping majority of the market. The protest presented to the Deputies must be considered a dead failure, if it ever aspired to be a reflection of the collective opinion of the market, and everybody on 'Change was commenting to-day on this extraordinary apathy of the commercial body, and verily the ominous silence of the majority might be interpreted in Congress as the most significant and powerful adhesion to the Bill, and its fatal IVth article. The bill will soon come to the front and the debates that will follow will show in what light the Deputies view the protest of the market.

The latest rumor at the ring is that Congress will discuss the Mortgage Bank Bill this Session and that 20 millions of paper money will be voted on this head, to be exclusively devoted to mortgages. This rumor follows close on the heels of the report of the Committee of the Deputies who advise an increase of 12 millions in the circulation of the National Bank. Although the new issue of 20 millions for mortgage purposes is a mere rumor, the matter is spoken of pretty freely in the hall, but if the Deputies and the Government are intent on keeping down the premium on gold, they will not for a moment entertain such an idea of flooding the market with paper.

Telegrams from Rio quote exchange on London at 18⅜d.

Mr. Trebino, the popular coal King, favors us with the following coal report for the fortnight:—

The arrivals of coal for the last fifteen days at this port and Montevideo amount to 24,000 tons, embracing consignments to railway and gas Companies, to consumers and to purveyors.

Cardiff.—Last sales of cargoes to arrive were effected at 11½ to 12½ for the Riachuelo and 12½ to 13½ per ton for the rivers. The market closes weak as all wants of consumers have been supplied.

Glasgow—Purveyors of this coal have sufficient quantities on hand for some time to come. Last sales were effected at 10½ to 11$ for the Riachuelo. The market closes weak.

New Castle—No stock in port and little on land. Last sales were effected at 9 and 10$ gold for the Riachuelo, the article closing firm and in demand.

Smelting coke—Owing to the late numerous arrivals the market is well stocked. Last sales were effected at 18 to 22$, according to point of discharge.

Brickets—Lots were sold to arrive at 10$, more or less, despatched on board.

Cadiz salt—Owing to the closing of this port against arrivals from Cadiz, the great number of cargoes at sea on the way out were sold at 11½ and 13 rls. fts. gold per fanega on board, according to point of discharge. The market closes firm.

The following is a summary of operations effected this morning at the ring during official hours:—

The gold market ruled weak during afternoon Operations were small. A few hundred thousand dollars changed hands for cash and for the end of the month; the market fell to 39.80 and closed weak at 5 p.m., at 40 sellers.

Telegrams from Maldonado announce the stranding of the British steamer Hermes. Late advices this evening state that she may be considered a total loss and that four sailors were drowned.

The barque Lorena has loaded 2410 bales of hay in Rosario for Brazilian ports.

Our colleague La Nacion published this morning two communications, openly attacking the protest sent to the Deputies and the motives of the merchants who appended their signatures to that document. That many of those who signed are inspired by interested motives, nobody doubts, but this is not the question at issue, since the forced currency bill stakes principles that not only affect individuals, but the whole community. The IVth article of the Bill is an open violation of private contracts, and it is satisfactory to note that although the signatures appended to the protest are few, they comprise nearly all the leading English firms of this market.

At the Plaza Once the following business reported:—

The market heaved a sigh of relief when the news spread that the majority of the Finance Committee of the Deputies had drawn up a report, advising the House to throw out the fourth clause of the Forced Currency Bill. Few Deputies are aware of the nightmare that burdened the market, whilst there lingered yet a chance of that obnoxious article being endorsed by the Committee. The repudiation, thereby sanctioned, looked so monstrous, that one failed to explain the vote of the Senate in such a transcendental question. The report of the Committee of the lower house removes all apprehensions and matters will now probably be decided by the Courts. The bill, however, may yet undergo important changes as the discussion has only begun. The minority of the Finance Committee have reported in favor of the bill as sanctioned by the Senate, but public opinion and the majority of members in Congress are against it. It is well to bear in mind that although the majority of the Finance Committee propose the rejection of the fourth article of the bill, they have not solved the question; but a great step is already gained. If the bill is accepted by the House in its amended form, as proposed by the Committee, then the Tribunals of this Capital must decide the matter. It is, however, premature to venture any opinion at present, as the debate may produce unexpected changes in the framing of the bill.

The rumor of a further increase in the issue of paper money, spread on 'Change yesterday, turns out to have foundation, since the Committee of the Deputies advise in their report on the Forced Currency Bill that the issue of the National Bank be increased to the amount stipulated in its charter; with other words, the Bank will be probably authorized to issue notes to double the amount of its capital, about 12 millions more than the present circulation of the Bank. There are few people in the market willing to believe that the actual circulation is insufficient to meet the demands of the whole country, but the feeling against the increased issue is no longer so strong, as the busy season is dawning on the market and paper money threatens to rule tight for the next three or four months. Under these circumstances, an issue of fresh paper will not very much affect the market, but the bare idea of more paper will suffice to haunt the gold market, to inspire distrust in many quarters, and to put up the premium on gold, and the Board of the National Bank and the Government may rest assured that, although the busy season will neutralize some of the bad effects of this increase in paper, the superabundance of paper will be more severely felt than ever in the dull months. The main cause of the present high premium is the plethora of the currency; we may then judge of the effects of 12 millions more heaped on a burthened market.

There is a gradual movement in the market that is increasing in volume and advancing steadily, although the effects are not yet very perceptible and escape the notice of the majority. The market is going through a process of liquidation that embraces nearly every branch of trade and is informed by the unanimous statements of business-men that operations are shrinking and that one and all are taking in sail. Although for the present the effects of this gradual and steady operation are not felt, it is probable that the first sensible symptoms will become very visible next year. Imports, we must acknowledge, are pouring into this market in larger quantities than last year, but when we compare the increase in imports with the great growth of exports, we see at a glance that there is a pause and that the ratio of advance in consumption has fallen off to some considerable extent. Merchants opine that this phase of the situation will become very clear next year, when the contrast will become more striking. This liquidation, which has been going on for over a year, is yet in its infancy and will probably continue increasing until the country is safely tided over 1886.

One of the anomalous features of our dirty paper currency is the plethora of fractionary notes. Wear and tear have disfigured them to such a degree that the small notes have become positively loathsome. In the midst of this superabundance of fractionary notes, it is noticed that a similar operation is taking place in the banknotes of the National and Provincial Banks. The large notes of these Banks have become remarkably scarce, and the fact has drawn some attention, as lately some large payments were effected in notes, nearly all of one and two dollars.

The American barque Louise, from New York, arrived at Bahia Blanca yesterday after sixty days' sailing. The National Government ought to give permit to open the Southern Railway wharf immediately to the public.

Lower down we publish the balance-sheet of the Mortgage Bank of this city for last month. A fair amount of Series G has been already issued. At the rate Cedulas are issued to meet the demands of the market we shall live to see Series Z.

Advices from General Alvear state that camps are in bad condition and that farmers have suffered heavy losses in their flocks.
